This is your story.

In the late 1990s, pharmaceutical companies reassured the medical community that patients would not become addicted to opioid pain relievers, and healthcare providers began to prescribe them at greater rates. Increased prescription of opioid medications led to widespread misuse of both prescription and non-prescription opioids before it became clear that these medications could indeed be highly addictive.

Action Plan

Since 1 in 10 people who need treatment for drug overdose get it, we should make treatment cheaper by creating a virtual treatment for drug users.

The first step is to find a group of people or a company that can build a website to...

Voting should be completed online for district elections.

We should start by testing some of our most innovative neighborhoods to see...

Police should be required to wear body cameras.

We should contact local police officers to see if there is interest in signing a petition...

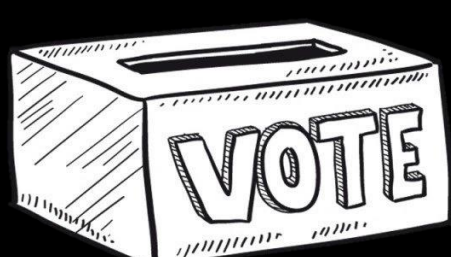

There should be a minimum requirement on how many minutes a year children in elementary school need to be in Physical Education.

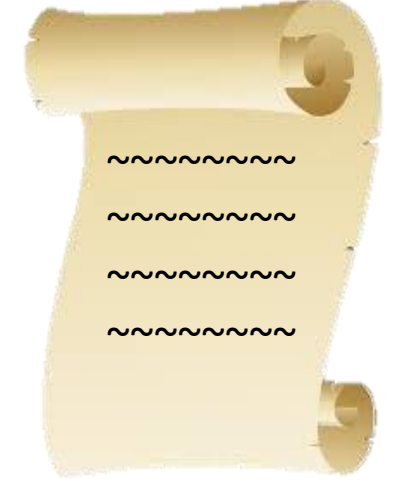

We should write a letter to the local school district...

We should lower the minimum wage to increase the number of workers local small businesses can hire

We should start working with small business to show the economic impact...
